IMPROVEMENT IN ALL THE GREAT STAPLE LINES OF TRADE.

Debtors Are Paying Up Rapidly and Bad Accounts Will Be Few-Month Opens Well.

As November opens a better feeling is developing in business circles, not only among the wholesale houses, but throughout the country. Retail merchants report an improvement since tax-paying time is out of the way. Then the industrial situation has also improved and indications point to a busy time for months to come. Collections, which were somewhat unsatisfactory are improving; in a word, the general business situation is much more satisfactory than it was a week ago. Nothing especially new has develcped in the flour trade the last few days. Possibly there is an easier feeling in sympathy with wheat. Locally, a fair trade is reported. Mills in Indiana and Illinois have all the flour they can secure wheat to turn out, which is practically contracted for. The grocery circles report business opening up well and notwithstanding the fact that orders are small, the volume of business in the aggregate is large. Almost everything in the grocery line is being sold very close and, as a consequence, present credit lines are drawn close. The tightening of the credit lines will be better for the retailer, as he, in turn, will be forced to collect more closely in order to meet the claims of the wholesaler, and the retailer will be saved a good many bad accounts, and It is so now that the man in the grocery or any other business who does not meet his obligations with some degree of promptness cannot expect favors. With the coming in of the month there is no very important price changes to note. Sugars are easy at the recent reduction and coffees firm at the recent advance. The pack of tomatoes this year was unusually large and it is stated that some of the packers have been forced to realize, as the large pack The market for hog products gives evidence of weakness, in sympathy with hogs. There is a continued good degree of activity better than considerable extent with the coming of cooler weather will supplant cured meats and, as a resugar-cured ham, pure lard and like hog days there has been quite a drop in hogs and some traders aver that hard has been reached others look for still lower prices. The egg market is in strong tone. Rethe case at this season of the year. In some places storage eggs have commenced to take the place of fresh, and prices will doubtless be much higher were not such the case. There has been a very fair trade in butter and prices are somewhat easier, going off 1 cent yesterday choice. In regard to poultry the market for chickens is a little slow, but good, fat ducks continue in light supply and command full prices and the same is true of turkeys, the demand for the latter increasing.

Local Grain Market.

There is but little change to note in the local market. Were receipts larger, prices would doubtless go lower for old corn, as much of the new corn is now dry enough for offering on market. Oats are in light supply and prices firm. The receipts of wheat have increased somewhat but not sufficiently to affect prices. Prices of the several cereals, as reported by the secretary of the Board of Trade, ruling as follows: Wheat weaker; No. 2 red, 84c track, 84c on milling freight; No. 3 red, 81c track; November, Corn steady; No. 2 white, 44%c; No. 3 white, 44%c; No. 4 white, 42c; No. 2 white mixed, 44c; No. 3 white mixed, 44c; No. 4 white mixed 42c;

CEREALS DECLINED

Corn and Oats Down from 1-4c to 3-8c -All News of a Bearish Character-Provisions Steady.

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.-Lower cables, favorable weather and a bearish government crop bulletin were influences that caused weakness in wheat to-day, and with little support December closed %c lower. December corn closed %c to %c lower, cats were off %c, and provisions were about unchanged.

There was plenty of wheat for sale to-day and but very little demand, and as a result prices ruled weak the entire day. The opening was weak, due to the poor showing of cables, large receipts in the Northwest and Southwest and favorable weather. December being off 160%c to %c at 80%@80%c to 80%c. Outside markets were all lower, with renewed selling by Armour. The December option was especially weak, and had a declining tendency from the start. The persistent selling by the big operator caused recent buyers to turn sellers, and this fact aided in the down turn. December declined to 79%c and closed at 79%G79%c, a loss of %c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 54,300 bu. Primary receipts were 1,599,100 bu, against a holiday last year. Minneapolis and Duluth respected relast year. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 1,117 cars, which, with local receipts of 206 cars, two of contract grade, made total re-celpts for the three points of 1,323 cars, against 972 cars last week.

Corn ruled weak, due largely to lower cables and a bearish weekly government report. The market was also influenced by the weakness in wheat, which not only encouraged short selling by provision interests, but brought out some liquidation by yesterday's buyers. The market had some support early from good cash business yesterday and on scattered reports of poor husk ings. After selling between 43%@43%c and 44%c December closed 4c to 3c lower at 43%c. Local receipts were 474 cars, with 51 of contract grade. Longs were inclined to liquidate their holdings in oats, owing to weakness in the cash article yesterday and to the liberal receipts. Weakness in wheat and corn was also a help in inducing freer offerings. Commission houses bought sparingly, but the demand was not sufficient to prevent loss. December closed %c lower at 35c, after ranging between 34%c and 35%c. Local receipts were 315 cars.

Provisions held steady in the face of a larger run of hogs than had been expected and a decline of from 15c to 20c in prices at the yards. Covering by shorts on decline in contract stocks was the supporting feature. Packers were credited with selling, but the offerings were readily absorbed and prices showed little change. January pork and lard each closed a shade lower at $12.27\frac{1}{2}@12.30 and $6.85@6.87\frac{1}{2}, while ribs were 5c

All the News Concerning Wheat Was Bearish and Prices Dropped.

[Albert R. Thompson & Co., Indianapolis.] CHICAGO, Nov. 3.-There were declines in wheat everywhere. This market sold off %c to 1c, there was 14c decline on the May at St. Louis, and the Northwest markets were off about as much as this market. There was fine weather-clear in the Northwest and showers ofor the winter wheat. Cash wheat was in poor demand, as if the buyers had been filled up. Argentine cables talked a "monster" crop, and one cable even reported harvesting begun. Receipts at Winnipeg were larger than last year and the grading fairly good. The speculative feature was continued selling by the cash interests of December-Armour, Peavey and others. These are reported buyers of cash wheat at Duluth. There was merely a scalping market in corn, and not a big one at that. The cash market is about 14c lower, and with New York closed the demand, even at the decline, was slow. There was selling of May by Kidston-Parker, and there was some little buying by Comstock and by the pit traders from wheat. The October crop bulletin was decidedly bearish, deciaring the crop results better than expected. There continue private advices of the bull sort, but the official claims of the bear kinds are finding believers. Spot corn was %c to 1%c lower. Futures were a fraction lower. Cash oats of poor grade were very weak again—the poor off 1c. There was a big crowd in the market, and quite a contest for a time around 36c for May and 35c for December. The market went under these figures finally. There was some advance in provisions early be-cause the stocks showed better decreases than expected. There was a decrease in the lard of 66,000 tierces here, and the world's stock decreased 89,000 tierces. Towards the close and on the advance there was some selling by local and outside packers. Hogs were 15c to 20c lower, and there was some selling on that by the stockyards speculators. Shipments were liberal. The market lost its advance and closed at a slight decline. Liverpool was 9d higher on lard.

Her Modern Education. And when they've learned the whole of it

The girl who wears a puzzled frown When learning Greek or Latin Will study hard upon a gown Derived from silk or satin. She may not for the moment tall The most important city, But she knows when a dress is swell And when a frock is pretty. How blithely she will talk of styles In arguments polemic: How wisely, with impressive smiles.

And argue that the milder blues Combined make a confection! Its sines and arcs in tangles Will demonstrate how she, at last, May make neat curves of angles; Arithmetic will be delight-Her knowledge thus enlarging Will prove the modiste isn't right, But tends to overcharging.

She'll seek discussion chemic To prove the fadelessness of hues

That match her fair complexion.

UNION STOCKYARDS, INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 3.-Cattle-Receipts, 1,000; shipments, 200. last it appears that the poor condition of the cattle market has begun to tell upon the receipts, and the supply to-day was smaller than it has been at this time in the week recently. The receipts were probably as large as expected, and, considering the quality and condition of the offerings, fully as many as required. There was no really urgent competition between buyers, but a fair demand from local killers for cattle good enough to kill, and any that answered that description sold at steady to strong prices compared with those prevailing for equal kinds at the close of last week. Less desirable cattle were more or less difficult to sell, and prices in no case were any higher. While sales were possibly as satisfactory as expected, prices were not strong enough to give encouragement to the selling side, and it is evident they are not exrather indifferent and particular in making their | quality generally was fully equal to the average feeding stock to-day, but all that sold brought quotably steady prices compared with the close of last week. Hogs-Receipts, 8,000; shipments, 500. The receipts to-day, considering the action of the market last week, were fully as large as expected. Reports from other places also indicated liberal receipts and lower prices, and therefore there inquiry from outside sources, but local packers, who have been the principal support of the mar-ket for some time past, again indicated that they in a position to dictate terms, and were finally forced to accept packers' prices. They were asking a decline of at least 19c in all cases, and on that basis the trading was soon quite active and the morning receipts were exhausted prompt-Nearly 1,500 hogs came in after the supply had changed hands, and with shippers still out of the market and less favorable reports from closing markets elsewhere a weaker condition developed. The last arrivals were not as easy to sell, and were generally quoted 5c lower than early, which made the closing market 15c below yesterday. The close was quite weak and the outlook for the very near future is not encouraging to the selling side. Sales to-day ranged from $5 to $5.27\\(\), and the bulk of the supply sold at $5.15\(\)65.25, with more sales at $5.20 than any other price. Quotations: Good to choice medium to heavy...... fore there was no wide range in prices. Practically all of the lambs sold at $5@5.25, and the good sheep at $3.25. Lambs were reported as low as $4, and culls to decent sheep sold from $2 to $3.15. Good to choice lambs .. Common to medium lambs..... Culls and common sheep.

Horses-Nearly 200 head of horses were re ceived for the opening auction sale this week, against 150 the same time last week, and less than 100 the corresponding time a year ago. A good variety of horses was represented, and the of a week ago. In fact, in anticipation of a greater demand for well-bred stock there was probably more of this class than a week ago. The attendance of buyers was large, many being attracted here by the breeders' sale which occurs this week. Therefore, there was a bigger crowd attended the auction and the trading was reasonably active. Sales were possibly a shade stronger generally, but not quotably higher. The high-class coach and draft horses sold around $200 per head, but the medium to good chunks and drivers sold from $125 to $160, and the smaller and less desirable horses from $35 to $115.

John Rae, an assistant engineer of the Dawson City fire department, is in the city, visiting his mother, on Concord avenue. Mr. Rae is a Toronto boy, who, six years ago, went up into the Yukon territory to prospect for gold. After more or less success, he considered he had enough of it, and is now on the fire department, where he is in receipt of $200 a month. Engineers draw $250 a month, and the members of the department, some twenty in ail, draw salary on the same liberal scale. The city has no waterworks system and depends for protection from fire on what practically constitutes three fire boats, being engines housed on scows and moored in the Yukon river, one at each extremity of the city and one at a central point. There are three hose companies and one truck company. A hose wagon is stationed near the river, comes in one end of the lay is attached to the engine and the wagon runs on to the blaze. Each wagon carries about 2,000 feet of hose, as compared with 500 or 600 here. The scow is run out into the river and the engine pumps direct. There is not a brick building in Dawson City, and the firemen winter, with the mercury down to 50 and 60
